(International News Service)
McCONNELLSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5.—Apprehended as he sought refuge in a barn, 55-year-old Brice Hann, a McConnellsburg livestock dealer, today faced charges of murder in the fatal shooting of State Motor Policeman Frederick J. Sutton on Wednesday night as Sutton attempted to serve a warrant on him.

Hann led more than 100 state police, game wardens and volunteer searchers through a 26-hour man-hunt of Fulton county's rugged hills in sub-freezing temperatures before he was finally captured.

Found In Barn
Huddled on the first floor of a barn near Andover, 18 miles south of here, Hann was arrested by State Motor Patrolman Wagenseller and Game Warden Frank Kirchner. He made no resistance, giving up an automatic pistol which police claim was the death weapon.

Sutton was shot by Hann, police charge, outside a McConnellsburg restaurant when the state policeman sought to serve a warrant on him. Hann was charged with attempting to pass a fraudulent check for $50. Sutton was in civilian clothes when the shooting occurred.

The middle-aged livestock dealer, the father of six children, was questioned by District Attorney John Mentzer, Fulton county, who termed the prisoner "uncommunicative and uncooperative." When he was found by police, Hann said he had "enjoyed watching the lights" of their flashlights.

Hann appeared little the worse for his apparent 26-hour exposure in the snow-clad hills of Fulton (Continued On Page Two)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5.—With snow sweeping over western Pennsylvania today, the weatherman announced still another cold wave was expected to arrive this afternoon and send the mercury back down to the near-zero depths to which residents of the area are fast becoming accustomed.

Armed Bandit Robs Urmson

CONSIDERABLE SUM OF MONEY IS TAKEN

Masked and armed, a lone bandit at 6:45 a. m. today held up and robbed Harry Urmson, at Urmson Bros. store, 521 Highland avenue and escaped on foot. Urmson was unable early today to give an estimate of the money stolen. Checks were also taken.

The bandit, after locking Urmson in a clothes closet, fled through a rear door thence through Boyles avenue. Police trailed the burglar's footprints to a point in North Jefferson street south of Lincoln avenue.

According to reports, Urmson arrived at the store at 6:45 a. m. He took out his keys to open the store. A man came around the corner of the store from Boyles avenue and pressed a revolver against his back. "Get inside!" he ordered in a low tone.

"Give Me Your Money"

"Give me your money!" the bandit commanded. "I'll give you what I have" Urmson replied, handing him a wallet in which there was a considerable sum of money.

"Get back to the safe!" the bandit said. Urmson told the robber there was no money in the safe. It is used to contain records and was open, Urmson explained.

Finns' Victories Force Russia To Drastic Action

Report Huge Army Of 2,000,000 Men To Be

Second Major Victory Of Warfare Is Reported For Finnish Troops

(BULLETIN)
HELSINKI, Jan. 5.—

Forced to drastic measures by continued Finnish victories—signaled today by recapture of the ruined town of Salla—Soviet Russia has decided to throw 2,000,000 men into the field, according to reliable information in Helsinki.

This huge force will be divided into two sections, one-half attacking on the Carelian isthmus and north of Lake Ladoga, while the balance is set up as a reserve force behind the main Finns and subjected to intensive training under officers already experienced in Finnish warfare.

Finns in Big Victory
The Russian decision came as no surprise to the Finns, whose second major victory of the war at Salla, accomplished after fierce fighting on the north-central front, had convinced them that the Soviets must soon precipitate major warfare by sheer force of numbers to escape ignominy of defeat by a nation one-fifth their size.

An entire Soviet division was vanquished at Salla, Finnish reports said, and its remnants were reported fleeing in wild disorder toward the Soviet frontier. A two-day battle of major proportions preceded the latest Finnish victory.

Rapid Drop In Temperature Seen

One of the quickest drops in temperature seen in a long time was noticed during the morning, as the cold wave which was predicted as sweeping in from the west arrived. The mercury fell from 21 degrees to 12 degrees above zero in an hour's time at the U. S. Weather Observing station at the water works. Zero marks are said to be in store tonight.

Thursday morning saw the lowest temperature reading of the winter, when the mercury at the weather station fell to four above zero and lower marks were reported from other sections of the county, but this will be exceeded tonight, it is reported.

About two inches of light fluffy snow fell during the night, making driving conditions precarious again as the snow was packed down by passing traffic and became exceedingly slippery. (Continued On Page Two)

Senators Are Suspicious Of Plan

Opposition To Edison's Plan

Secretary Proposes Further Peace-Time Powers For President

BORAH DECLARES PLAN STARTLING

By ROBERT A. MCGILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Defeat of Secretary of the Navy Edison's plan to give President Roosevelt peace-time powers to command industry and natural resources, was predicted today by a large bi-partisan group of senators.

Opposition to the program quickly transcended party lines. It spread from such veteran senators as Borah (R) of Idaho, to many administration Democrats, including Minton (D) of Indiana.

There was a strong possibility that Edison may be questioned on the purpose of his request before the senate acts on his confirmation as secretary of the navy.

Senators Suspicious
Edison's assertion before the house naval appropriations sub-committee that granting the peace-time powers was "just routine" preparedness, failed to set at ease those senators who view the proposal with suspicion.

Representative reaction to the proposal was voiced by Borah and Minton. Borah said it was "perfectly startling," while Minton said "it is a violation of the spirit of a democratic country."

"I have not seen the full letter, but from what I've read in regard to it in the press is perfectly startling to me," Borah asserted. "I don't know when I've read anything of late that has surprised me more than that. That's all I care to say at present until I see the letter in full."

Rep. Vinson (D) of Georgia, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, said he will not lay the letter before his committee until he has "investigated it."

Russian troops hammering away north of Lake Ladoga tried new tactics, sending huge motor-sledges across the ice in an attempt to shatter the Finnish defenses, but each attack was repulsed in turn.

Finland aviators continued to scatter propaganda leaflets behind the Russian front and at Leningrad one huge batch of which gave the following instructions to facilitate Soviet surrender:

Tell How To Surrender
"Form groups of from six to eight men. Sling rifle from the shoulder muzzle downward and raise hands aloft."

Other pamphlets carried a price list showing what the Finns would pay for surrendered weapons. A pistol will bring 100 rubles, the announcement said, a rifle 150 rubles, a machine-gun 2,000 rubles and 1,500 and a tank 10,000 rubles.

"In addition," the leaflets read, "Finland will pay 1,000 American dollars for each airplane received undamaged, plus free transportation for the pilot to any place in the world he wishes to go."

The long-anticipated victory at Salla came after more than two days of violent fighting in which thousands of Finnish and red army troops were locked in a grim death struggle.

Russians Routed
The routed Russian regiment was one which had been rushed to the north central battle front by the Finnish high command after the Finns surrounded and cut to pieces the 163rd Soviet division in the war's first decisive battle near Suomussalmi.

Reports from the front indicated that today's victory was won by means of the same tactics that brought about the stunning reverse for the red army last week.

The Finnish forces, these advices said, waited coolly while the Russians sent huge reinforcements into a carefully planned Finnish trap.

The defending forces then carefully encircled the Russians and finally closed in with deadly swiftness, routing the Russians after a bloody struggle.

Russians Retreating
With the Russians now beating a hasty retreat for Soviet territory, the Finns were reported mopping up the entire Salla area, capturing huge quantities of abandoned Soviet war materials.

Other reports, still unconfirmed, said that Finnish war planes bombed Russian bases and stores at Murmansk, where a large oil depot has been blazing for several days.

It was understood that the Finnish air force, which at the outbreak of the war numbered about 250 planes, will have another 400 before the end of January—most of them modern British fighting craft.

In addition, it was reported that many Finnish aviators are now en route to England, or are already there, to fly the new planes home.

Advices to Helsinki said it was reported that Russia's famous bewhiskered cavalry General Semion Mikhailovitch Budenny is taking over supreme command of the Soviet campaign in Finland, replacing General Gregory Stern, who has been reported in bad grace at Moscow because of his failure to crack the Finnish defenses.

county. He was disheveled and unshaven and rambled in his conversation.

Shows Little Concern
Under questioning by Metzner, Hann showed little concern about his fate. He said he was sorry Sutton had died, but blamed the officer for the shooting.

From unconnected details gathered from Hann, police believed that most of the time Hann was evading arrest he traveled along ice-covered streams in Fulton county, stopping only once for food, at the farm home of Chester Melott, Licking Creek township.

Police said that members of the Melott family, when questioned, said Hann had talked of giving himself up.

Metzner said Hann would be given a hearing Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the dead trooper's body was shipped to his home in Mercer and prepared for a full military burial tomorrow morning. An autopsy was performed by Franklin county Coroner Dr. S. D. Shull, who said death resulted from internal hemorrhaging caused when the bullet from the gun allegedly fired by Hann punctured the small intestine five times.

Shooting Occurs
Sutton was killed while attempting to show a newly-sworn constable John Regi, how to serve a warrant on Hann, charging issuance of a worthless check.

Approaching the eating place where Hann had ordered a sandwich, Sutton asked Hann to accompany him to the office of Magistrate Wells Grayhead.

Hann fired from his overcoat pocket, the bullet piercing Sutton in the abdomen. The trooper crumpled in Regi's arms, shouting:

"I'm shot."

Rushed to advantage of the confusion to flee down an alley, bursting through a rear door of the restaurant to make good his escape. A searching party was immediately organized.

Rushed to the hospital, Sutton died on the operating table while a fellow officer, William Pacesas, was preparing to give blood for a transfusion.

SOUTH SIDE BOARD OF TRADE CELEBRATES 10TH ANNIVERSARY

Davies, toastmaster of the evening. To the very end, Davies won his way into the hearts of the 70 persons present.

Mayor Speaks
Mayor Charles B. Mayne delivered an entertaining talk. "At present, the city and police department must be straightened out. The fire department has been straightened. We propose using less money during the next four years. Some alterations must be made. We will try hard to do all these things," the mayor said.

Joseph Travers, county commissioner, the next speaker, commented mostly on Lawrence county's tax problem, stating:

"I am going to hold out for a decrease in taxes. Take an interest in the taxation problem. Tomorrow (today) Ellwood City's tax problem arises. Come up to the court house and see how the tax problem is handled."

Councilman Joseph Alexander, who resided in the south side for many years, delivered one of the most interesting addresses of the evening. "We are striving for a fair assessment and, eventually, we expect to reduce the millage. You must bear with us. It's a hard task and takes lots of time. It might be of interest to you to know that the Big Run project has been approved by the government. The money has been allocated. As yet, the money has not been released. As soon as the funds are released, we can proceed with this project, which is so important to you," the popular councilman said.

Before concluding his talk, Alexander pointed out that street corner criticism never solved a problem. He urged citizens to present their criticisms to proper authorities. "He urged the group to cooperate with officials. His address was thoroughly enjoyed."

Objectives Given
Dr. A. M. Periano was introduced and responded with a few remarks. Attorney Joseph Leta carefully and interestingly depicted the objectives of the Board of Trade.

"The board is striving to better the community, to give the necessary impetus to anything that may better the city at large. We always have the community at heart," Leta said. He then pointed out the various events sponsored by the organization and eulogized the present administration for its untiring efforts.

At various intervals, Anthony Dominick, John Benigno and Edward Schwartz, students of Donald's School of Music, presented a number of musical selections. The boys, none over 12 years of age, scored a decided hit. The melodious tunes filled in nicely with the program.

During the following half hour or more, the gathering laughed itself into a state of exhaustion. Amil Lelenko, one of the most talented young men in the district, assisted by a winsome miss, Barbara Bipl, presented several clever skits. His impersonations of various internationally known persons highlighted his act.

At the conclusion, the group re-elected Harold Lebo as president. Other officials named:

Attorney Joseph Leta, vice president; Coy Cole, recording secretary; Harrell Huston, treasurer; William Druschel, financial secretary; Alec Samuels, Joseph Frenkel, Anthony Villani, John Wajert, Louis DiPolio, Harry Clark, Tom Solomon, Maurice Markley, Clint Snyder and Joseph Klamar, board of directors; Anthony Villani, chairman of the membership committee; Alec Samuels and John Wajert, auditors; Joseph Frenkel, chairman of the civic committee; Mrs. Carl Ciadella, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Miller Trial Is Near Conclusion

Slippery Rock Case May Reach Jury Sometime This Afternoon

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 5.—Dr. Charles S. Miller, president of Slippery Rock State Teachers college, on Thursday, denied he had ever placed anyone on the school payroll except those who actually worked for the school.

Dr. Miller, once convicted of misfeasance and nonfeasance in office, was granted a new trial by Judge John H. Wilson, a former trustee of the college.

One of the first defense witnesses, Dr. Miller appeared calm and collected as he denied ever having put anyone on the payroll except those persons who belonged there.

His attorney read off a list of 30 merchants, who the prosecution claims never worked at the school but were placed on the payroll. After each name Miller denied he had ever ordered the person placed on the payroll.

was forced to hand over money which he had secreted yesterday in the office. Urmson was then forced to unlock a rear door after which he was shoved into a clothes-closet which the bandit locked.

Cut Phone Wires
The bandit then cut the wires of two telephones in the store and fled through the rear door.

Urmson took his pen-knife, picked the lock and escaped from the closet. He opened a connecting door in his store to the E. & H. Market and telephoned the police. Officers traced the man to a point in North Jefferson street south of Lincoln avenue.

According to Urmson, he paid slight attention to the bandit when the man came around the corner. He believed he was a driver of a bread wagon.

As soon as the man forced him into the store, he noticed the man was about six feet tall, wore a leather jacket, a white handkerchief for a mask and had a cap pulled down over his head. The man was young and spoke in a disguised low voice, Urmson stated.

No estimate of the money was available early today. However, it was no small sum. In addition there were numerous checks taken which had been cashed for customers Thursday.

It is believed that the bandit was well acquainted with Urmson's movements and the Urmson Bros.

IMPROVING FUTURE OF HANDICAPPED TOT

In the United States there are 6,000,000 malnourished children; 3,000,000 who are hard of hearing; 1,000,000 with weak and damaged hearts; 1,000,000 with defective speech; 850,000 with "suspicious tuberculosis"; 382,000 with tuberculosis; 675,000 who are delinquent, nervous or emotionally unstable; 450,000 who are mentally retarded; 50,000 who have partial sight; 14,400 who are blind, and 18,212 who are deaf.

"And what of the 1,500,000 gifted children? Are they not handicapped, too?" I asked of Mrs. Dorothy E. Norris, in charge of the Major Work Classes of gifted children in the Cleveland, Ohio, public schools, and president of the International Council for Exceptional Children.

"Their greatest handicap, if you call it such," she replied, "is placed upon them by people who do not set up an environment whereby they have the opportunity of developing to the limit of their ability, in order to make constructive use of their powers for the good of themselves and society."

Our attitude
When you and I see a handicapped child, our more primitive impulses prompt us to center our attention on the way he is different and to wonder how it happened. When, however, we act graciously and intelligently, we concern ourselves only with what may be done to help this child develop his greatest possibilities and to induce cheer, patience and courage in his parents; to influence our neighbors and the whole community to feel a responsibility for the proper care and protection of this child.

In the last few decades we have made great progress in our public attitude toward the handicapped child and his parents, by providing special education financed by the local community, with increasing aid from state and federal funds.

Inspiring to me are those parents of handicapped children who have accepted these children as they are and have adjusted themselves accordingly.

I was talking to a friend in a hotel lobby when another friend of mine, a man of eminence in education and a leader in the field, approached. After introductions, I asked this second friend about members of the family, purposely avoiding reference to Sammy (not his name). But he added, "And Sammy is fine, too. Then he turned to explain nonchalantly to the other man, 'You know, I have a feeble-minded son.' I was filled with admiration. I wish all parents of handicapped children would emulate that father. How much needless suffering might be escaped in this way!

Many parents and teachers dealing with the handicapped child at home and school suggest to us the possibilities of our doing better at understanding and guiding the so-called normal child.

Q. My girl, 12 years old, has not had the trouble with the simple number facts you often write about. Indeed, she is quick and accurate at mere adding, subtracting and the like. Her trouble is with verbal problems—to know whether to add, subtract, multiply or divide.

A. Then she does not read the problem carefully, to find out what it means. She may be a careless or poor reader. The chances are that she always is in too great hurry to read the entire problem, and that she looks from one number to another among the words and guesses if it is an add, subtract, multiply or "kuzinto" problem, anything you can do to induce her to be more calm and careful as she attacks a problem should help her.

Q. At what age may it be well for a boy to begin piano lessons?
A. At about six or seven. While finger strength and control are lower than at nine or ten, willingness to practice is higher. The child who before the age of ten has acquired considerable skill at the piano, can and will more readily resist the fear of being called a sissy.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BRING IT ON.

The predicament of public speakers who, despite a deep yen for the graces of spontaneity, are condemned by their diffidence and defective memories to an inglorious servitude to typed manuscripts, was too pressing to remain permanently unrelieved. Relief seems to be at last on the way, but as luck would have it, the war will prevent its wide diffusion. It is to be confined, for the present, to Germany, where according to the German Railroads Information Office, a Dr. Forner of Berlin, has invented a desk—enabling the speaker, while apparently looking at the audience, to read his manuscript, in enlarged type from a continuous roll with the aid of a magnifying mirror, without having to turn pages, and without the audience being aware that the speech is being read.

The description of the device for the diffusion of ersatz extemporaneity leaves one or two points obscure. Some optical legend, it seems to us, would be required to enable the speaker to convey the effect of looking at the audience while he is actually looking at the magnified type of his manuscript. It is also not apparent how the speaker would regulate the speed of the manuscript roll to coincide with his natural speaking tempo; perhaps with the aid of a concealed foot-pedal. But, on the whole, we think the idea is swell. American rights to the radio, for luncheon purposes alone, should not the distributor of the "Rostra Forneri" a fine, steady income.

Colonel Harrington says the WPA will be reduced next year. Maybe. But with an election coming on it doesn't seem plausible.

UNCLE SAM COUNTS NOSES

EVERY ten years your old Uncle Sam gets a little curious about how his family is growing, what they are doing, what the trends are in population, in industrial development, in agricultural progress, how much money his nephews and nieces are making and a host of other information.

It is a fine idea. Only by the method of the decennial census can your uncle know just where he stands and the decennial census is under way now. In every county in the United States men and women are asking questions, at present confining their questioning to industries and business houses.

Later on, sometime after April 1 they will get around to you. They will ask you many questions, all of which you should answer honestly and promptly. This census is in no wise a piece of big time snooping, rather it is an honest attempt to get a comprehensive picture of the population of the country and how it lives.

No honest citizen will refuse the appointed enumerators the information they ask. He is merely doing a part of the job for your Uncle Sam and the information he gives you will be kept confidential.

The present industrial and business census is to find out how many people are employed as "gainful workers". Previous censuses indicate about 40 per cent are. This does not include housewives doing work in their own homes, children working at home, or chores.

Look for the census enumerator. Welcome him and assist him for he is doing a job that will provide valuable information for you.

MANY PUBLIC ACRES IN PENNSYLVANIA

Of every 10 acres in Pennsylvania, one acre is in public ownership, Richard P. Brown chairman of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, reports.

These public lands include state and national forests, state fish and game lands, state and national parks, monuments and historic areas; federal recreation, demonstration and rural resettlement areas, and county, city and township parks. Total acreage (1938) for all publicly owned lands in Pennsylvania is 2,769,393.

Far and away the greatest portion of all this acreage is accounted for by the government-owned forest areas, says Secretary Brown. These total 2,066,135 acres, more than two-thirds of all public land in Pennsylvania. Second in size are the state game and fish lands, whose 593,444 acres of sportsmen's paradise include lands in 57 of the state's 67 counties. Other state and federal lands total 82,641 acres; and county, city and township parks and recreation areas embrace an additional 27,173 acres. This latter figure does not include school playgrounds.

Largest single public holding in the state is the Allegheny National Forest, including in its 432,121 acres large portions of three northwestern counties: Elk, Warren and McKean. In fact, a survey by the State Planning Board shows that most of the land in public ownership is situated in the northcentral and northwestern sections of the state, with every one of the ten leading counties in this general region. Potter county contains the largest amount of public lands, 263,627 acres. Next in order are Clinton county, 252,034; Elk, 219,405; Lycoming, 179,589; Center, 146,388; McKean, 137,180; Cameron, 131,604; Warren, 122,323; Tioga, 116,292; Forest, 110,785. Much of the state's public land is held by the state and federal governments for forest and watershed protection and for flood control.

From the foregoing it can be seen that the largest areas of public land are found in the counties where density of population is low. These public areas are almost entirely state and federal holdings. On the other hand local public holdings (county, city and township) are the largest in the more highly urbanized counties. Philadelphia and Allegheny county (Pittsburgh), rank first and second with 7,584 and 6,630 acres respectively, followed by Lehigh county (Allentown) 2,489; Berks (Reading) 1,520; and Dauphin (Harrisburg) 1,166. According to the most recent available figures of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, these are the only counties with more than 1,000 acres each of locally-owned public lands.

Some sort of public holdings exist in 66 out of the state's 67 counties. Green is the one county in which there is not a single acre of such land.

A FORTUITOUS TURN

With a blanket of snow up to a foot thick covering the "dust bowl" of the southwestern United States, the weather of that region has made one of those fortuitous turns which will add vastly to the comfort and well-being of the people of the prairies.

The fate of the wheat crop under this protective layer of moisture is still uncertain in Western Kansas. The grain was drilled into the dust and much of it had not sprouted up to Christmas Day. That which did sprout had a weak start with little or no root growth. Fields were barren of vegetation.

But regardless of wheat the snow is a most welcome offering because it defers at least all of those dust storms which were imminent and probably cancels most of them for months to come. The snow will be converted into surface and subsoil moisture and that moisture will start spring vegetation and lay the groundwork for spring crops. Nature's erosion prevention program will begin to function.

So the prospects for one of the dustiest springs on record have been erased from the list of worries of the Southwest and replaced by an outlook that is among the best since the drought era began.

Colonel Harrington says the WPA will be reduced next year. Maybe. But with an election coming on it doesn't seem plausible.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Young Oswald was surely an officious young man as every one in the firm's employ agreed. He always was barking in where he was not wanted, and too, he had a highly exalted opinion of himself.

There were two partners in the firm and one of them happened to die. The young man approached the surviving partner with whom he was not exactly a favorite.

"I'm so sorry, sir, to hear of Mr. John's demise, and I have come to ask if you would like to have me take his place."

"Yes, I would very much," came the reply, "if you can arrange it with the undertaker."

Rev. U. S. Peckham OGDEN

"The most thrilling man I have yet met is highly educated and dignified. How can I become popular with his sort?" This is one of the most frequent questions asked me by young girls.

My answer: If you are uneducated in those lines take special courses in English and appreciation of music. Read the important news and columns in the daily papers and news magazines, listen to the serious news commentators and the classical symphonies on your radio. Follow book lists of best sellers and read them, also the book dramatic and movie critics. Do all of this as a buildup for a culture reserve to be drawn upon during the serious moments of your learned men friends. At the same time, develop your play side as well. Even the most serious men yearn half of their time for women who are light-hearted playmates.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Mark: Must one, in mourning, refrain from all amusements, or is it permissible to go about in the usual way?

—Widow.

Answer: To be absolutely consistent, one wearing deep mourning should avoid gay places of amusement, such as night clubs, musical comedies and the like, although no one could justly criticize a bereaved person for seeking the diversion of a play, a musical, or a motion picture. As soon as she accepts the attention of other men, a widow should shed her weeds worn for her husband.

Clarence: "Yes," to both of your questions.

REAL EFFICIENCY

Speaking of efficiency, this story ought to take the medal.

A railway director rebuked a ticket collector who allowed him to go through the gate without producing his pass.

"No matter if you do know who I am," he said in reply to the collector's excuse, "I am entitled to ride free only when I am traveling with that pass. You do not know whether I have it or not."

The collector, nettled into action, demanded to see the pass. "That's right," exclaimed the director. "Here—where—well, I declare, I must have left it at the office."

"Then you'll have to pay your fare," responded the collector grimly.

And he did.

There are always two sides to a story and both of them may be lies.

It's the fellow who can afford to pay for operations that don't have to be there.

TURN ABOUT

The Britisher was visiting America and was talking over the difference between American and English politics.

"I hear quite a lot of criticism of American politicians," said the man from abroad. "It certainly must be unpleasant for you folks to be governed by people who wouldn't ask into your home for dinner."

"It could be better," admitted the American. "But it really isn't as bad as being governed by people who wouldn't invite you into their homes for dinner."

Very often we are surprised to see some people drinking a cocktail.

Some of the people one meets in life is a reminder that it isn't always the best parade that takes the longest to pass a given point.

MODERN AGE

"How old are you?" inquired the visitor of the host's little son. "That's a different question," answered the young man, removing his spectacles, wiping them carefully. "The latest personal survey available shows my psychological age to be 12, my moral age 4, my anatomical age 7, my physiological age 6. I suppose, however, that you refer to my chronological age, which is 8. That is so old fashioned that I seldom think of it any more."

What's What At A Glance

Abandonment Of Party Lines Discussed
Liberals And Conservatives May Merge
Talk Of Third Party Is Again Revived

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

Abandonment of old time Republican and Democratic party lines in this country and the creation of two new parties, a Liberal and a Conservative is an idea that's been smoldering for a long time. It made its first sure-enough attempt to realize itself in 1924 when the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette ran for president on the Progressive ticket, against the Republicans on one hand, and the Democrats, on the other hand. Senator La Follette got a Democrat, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, to run with him. He also got considerable Republican support. Nevertheless, the effort failed.

Some Republicans and some Democrats deserted their original parties to vote for La Follette and Wheeler, but not enough of them, combined, to enable the Progressives to carry more than Senator La Follette's home state of Wisconsin.

It probably was that there were not plenty of liberals, both Republican and Democratic, but they didn't vote that way, generally speaking. They cared less for their liberal principles than they did for their respective Republican and Democratic party labels.

Trying It Again
Now the thing is to be tried again with certain variations.

The other day President Roosevelt and Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York got together on the subject in Washington.

I take it for granted that President Roosevelt is recognized as what Senator La Follette would have called a Progressive, though they might have differed to details. F. D. has been described as a Democrat, has been described as a Democrat, a Republican and a Socialist; in New York City as a Fusionist and an American Party Laborite. Surely that's an adequately enough non-partisan.

His scheme is this: If the Republicans put up a conservative presidential ticket, they're Democrats, provided the Democrats put up a liberal ticket. Or vice versa. They don't care a hoot for party labels.

But suppose both Democratic and Republican conventions name what are regarded as conservative tickets?—say John N. Garner and Robert A. Taft.

Better Chance In 1940?
Then what?

In that event there are hints of a third party—as in 1924. Some liberals think it would work better now than it did then. Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes (who used to be a Republican) speaks hopefully of it.

Ickes says, candidly, that he doesn't believe a third party candidate could win for the presidency in 1940. Still he'd take the risk.

La Guardia has got the nerve to go against it. He'd take the nomination and risk his chances.

Fiorello H. La Guardia wouldn't have the chance of a rabbit presidentially—or nominationally.

But he's a tremendous political influence.

He isn't alone a New Yorker. He knows the west. He's from Arizona.

I've suggested heretofore that there are "nuisance candidates" for the presidency—Democratic or Republican.

La Guardia wouldn't do anyway—Democratically, Republicanly or Progressively. He's too recently alien to count anyhow.

But he'll have a lot to do with the selection of 1940 presidential candidates. And on both tickets.

They better figure on his influence—among radicals, anyway.

The Same Old Conflict

WASHINGTON Jan. 5. THE incurable confusion of the New Deal, which has been its outstanding characteristic from the start is again illustrated by the present situation in which conflicting forces are pulling in different directions.

THIS Administration is not really radical and it is not really conservative. It is neither one thing nor the other. It tries to go in both directions simultaneously and in the end, of course, it gets nowhere at all. That has been the story from the beginning. Every year in his annual message the President has talked about retrenchment and budget balance and every year the deficit has grown deeper and the debt higher.

IT is true that left-wingers have always pulled a stronger oar than the right but not strong enough to steer a straight course toward their Utopian goals. Always at some stage of the game they were checked, or swung around or slowed down. They have become irritated and angry but never discouraged and it must be admitted the Administration's general direction has been their direction rather than the other. There is no reason to doubt that in the current struggle between the two elements, the advantage will remain, as ever, with the radicals.

THE radicals are full of plans which, if even a portion of them go through, are calculated to nullify every conservative gain. To mention one: the intention of the TNEC to put the great insurance companies on the grill. Those who usually have accurate inside information of the inner circles report that a real bomb shortly will

Slight Changes
In Grid RulesOnly One Major Alteration For 1940 Grid Rules By
NCCA Rules Committee(International News Service)
PALM SPRINGS, Jan. 5.—Only a few slight changes in football rules for 1940 had been made today by the NCCA rules committee and one major alteration.The major alteration takes a little pressure off the offense, calling for a reduction of the penalty "when a forward pass touches or is touched by an ineligible receiver on or behind the line of scrimmage." This will now call for the loss of a down.
But if the passer intentionally throws the ball into an ineligible man on or behind the line of scrimmage to save yardage, the penalty is 15 yards and a loss of a down.In order to speed up the game, the rules committee voted to cut the time allowed for putting the ball into play from 30 to 25 seconds.Cleats were ordered reduced from one-half inch to three-eighths of an inch in diameter with the point parallel with the base.Visit our Showrooms - - - See how

Fate Of Poland Still Uncertain

Government-In-Exile Pledged To Nation's Restoration In Future

IS PARTITIONED
FOR FOURTH TIME

(International News Service)
NEW YORK.—Her immediate destiny still uncertain, off-mutilated Poland today lies conquered and divided into three parts—partitioned for the fourth and so the Germans say, "final" time in her history.

Germany has annexed the rich industrial and farming regions of the west, including the former Polish Corridor; Russia again has the east and is rapidly Sovietizing it.

A rump state, wide in the south and narrowing as it reaches past Warsaw in the north, remains under German rule, but the ultimate aim is to make it an outwardly independent Polish buffer, under protection of the Reich.

The break-up of Poland and the European conflict which it started began literally as a "margarine and herring war" between Danzig and Poland.

The First Blitzkrieg
But it burst with such fury that it gave the world its first example of the "blitzkrieg" or "lightning stroke" type of warfare that the Germans had been talking about so long.

For months the German drive for Danzig had been in progress according to the customary formula—mass meetings with youths yelling "we want to return to the Reich!"

atrocity stories in the German press—then border incidents. The margarine and herring war broke out when Poland, in reprisal against Danzig's expulsion of Polish customs officials, refused to admit those major Danzig products.

Germany's press campaign spread to include all Poland. There were daily charges of murders and brutality against the Germanic minority in Poland.

Hitler Summons Foerster
Then Albert Foerster, Danzig Chancellor Hitler's history-factory at Berchtesgaden and made "gau-leiter" of the Free City. Poland's army, long massed in the corridor, was increased by 600,000 men for a total of 2,100,000.

Events moved thereafter with lightning speed. Germany annexed Danzig—and the Anglo-French guarantees of Poland's independence automatically came into action.

At exactly 5 a. m. Friday Sept. 1 the "blitzkrieg" started. In half a dozen columns, German troops streaked into Poland from the north, west and southwest, on the pretext that Germany was striking back against Polish "invasions."

Over In A Fortnight
In a fortnight it was all over. Poland's vaunted army was crushed, its government had fled. Warsaw was occupied. Russian troops had the east.

Dry weather favored the German mechanical troops, and aided masses of German bombing airplanes in their repeated and deadly attacks on major cities.

Valiant but futile resistance was put up, and in some cases heroic episodes occurred—such as the siege withstood by a handful of men at Gdynia, and the sustained struggle at Warsaw after Germans had the city surrounded.

In four days the corridor was cut by troops joining in drives from East Prussia and West Prussia. Six columns smashed through the industrial districts of the south-west, taking Cracow and Lodz. Another force hammered southward from East Prussia straight for Warsaw.

Polish troops fell back steadily, praying for rain to halt the German machines. A great stand was made on the Bug and Vistula rivers north of Warsaw, while huge formations of German planes bombed the capital hour after hour.

Warsaw Falls
Warsaw fell in 11 days, the magnificent buildings of its center in ruins from the bombing and shelling. The German army swept on beyond Warsaw on the heels of the fleeing Polish government, straight to the borders of Russia. Although at war with Germany as a result of their pledge to Poland, Britain and France gave no direct aid.

By arrangement with Germany Soviet troops were permitted to take over eastern Poland, beginning Sept. 17. Resistance was negligible, and soon Brest-Litovsk, where Germany imposed such a humiliating peace on Russia in the world war, witnessed the astounding sight of German troops turning over the citadel to a Russian garrison with great ceremony.

Poland today is under firm military rule, and in the Russian sector property is being seized and local Soviets organized.

But in Paris a Polish government-in-exile functions, recognized by Britain and France as legal, and pledged to restoration of Poland's unity and independence.

The Christian's Confession Of Faith
Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

The Christ

"Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."—Matthew 16:16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for January 7 is Matthew 16:13-28, the Golden Text being Matt. 16:16, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God.")

The Jews, you recall, in the time of Jesus of Nazareth, were always looking for a Messiah to lead them out of bondage and make a great nation of them again. But they did not recognize the Messiah when He came. The Pharisees questioned Him often, and tried to find something in His sayings that would either let them accuse Him of something for which He could be thrown into prison and maybe executed, or for some sign that He was someone sent from Heaven.

Jesus weary of their seeking for some sign, "Why doth this generation seek after a sign?" He asked.

"Verily I say unto you, there shall be no sign given unto this generation." Even His apostles did not always have faith in Him and His power. You remember in last week's lesson how He fed the multitude with a few fishes and loaves and there were baskets of food left over. Still they worried about having no bread, even after he reminded them of what had happened. Wearily He asked them "Having eyes see ye not? and having ears hear ye not? and do ye not remember?"

Healing the Blind Man
"And He cometh to Bethsaida, and they bring a blind man unto Him, and besought Jesus to touch him." Jesus took the man by the hand and led him out from the city. He spat on his eyes and put His hands over them and asked the man if he could see. The man looked up and said he could see men "as trees walking," meaning that he could see dim shapes that moved. Once more the Lord touched his eyes and then the man could see clearly.

Then Jesus and the apostles went to Caesarea Philippi and as they walked He asked His companions what men said of Him. "Whom do men say I am?" He asked.

The apostles answered, "John the Baptist, but some say Elias and others Jeremiah, or one of the prophets."

Then said He: "But whom say ye that I am?" And Simon Peter, who seems to have been the readiest of speech, said, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God, which is our Golden Text for today."

Jesus was pleased with Peter, and said, "Blessed art thou Simon Bar-Jonah for flesh and blood hath not revealed it to thee, but my Father who is in heaven." You see Peter, in close association with Jesus, had become convinced that here was no ordinary preacher, but someone more than mortal.

Tries To Warn Apostles
Then Jesus tried to tell His disciples what would undoubtedly happen to Him in a short time—of His arrest, trial and crucifixion. Peter must have thought Jesus was feeling depressed and tried to cheer Him by saying, "Be it far from Thee, Lord: this shall never be unto Thee."

Peter, of course, had no idea of what was in store for his Lord, but Jesus knew and rebuked Peter by saying, "Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art a stumbling block unto me: for thou mindest not the things of God, but the things of men."

Jesus truly loved Peter. He had told him, "Thou art Peter (the rock), and upon this rock will I build my church; and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it." But He saw that Peter, even with his insight into his Lord's work and personality, could not foresee, as He himself did, that only by His sacrifice and death could His religion prevail in the world.

"Then He charged His disciples that they should tell no man that He was the Christ." By His rebuke to Peter Jesus indicated that even those closest to Him were not yet aware of His Mission, and from then on He tried to prepare them for His death, which He knew would take place within the year.

Church Attendance Campaign Planned

Plan Is Presented At Meeting Of Executive Committee Of County Association

The regular monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association was held Thursday evening in the parlor of the First Baptist church with representatives from the Second U. P., First Christian, Highland U. P., First Presbyterian, Third U. P., First Baptist, and Epworth M. E. Sunday schools as guests.

The two matters of importance to be taken up were the joint mid-year efficiency and administrative conference to be held Thursday, January 25, at the First M. E. church New Castle, with an afternoon session, a conference fellowship dinner and an evening session. The representative from the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be Walter E. Myers of Philadelphia, general secretary.

Dr. C. H. Heaton, pastor of the First Baptist church, gave an outline of a church attendance campaign that was to be started the last of this month, sponsored by the Ministerial association. A questionnaire was then distributed to get the ideas of those present on the pre-Easter increase campaign that is sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association and has been used with good success for the past three years. These questionnaires that were filled out will be used as a basis for this year's campaign, plans of which will be announced later.

Judge Biddle To Accept Post

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—U. S. Circuit Judge Francis Biddle cited the lure of "active practice" today as the reason for his accepting President Roosevelt's nomination of him as solicitor general.

"This temptation is very great for me," explained Judge Biddle when asked why he was willing to take a $2,500 pay cut as successor to Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson. As a judge he draws $12,500 a year; as solicitor he would be paid $10,000.

"I have already had considerable experience in arguing cases before the U. S. supreme court," the jurist stated, "and this work would be right down my alley." Now 53, Judge Biddle was appointed "for life" to the circuit court last March.

If free men are ruled by law rather than men, what law says the guilty man's punishment shall include a certain lecture by the judge?

Doctors are like the Chinese. They aren't callous; but they see so much suffering, they must learn indifference or break down.

Lindsay Is Given Chance To Live By Attending Doctors

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5.—Handsome James Riggs Lindsay today received the greatest of all birthday gifts—a fighting chance for life.

Jim, 25 today, rallied after the two-hour operation performed last night to remove a blood clot at the rear of his brain and was reported in a "fair" condition, although still semi-conscious.

As he clung tenaciously to the slender thread of life allowed him by physicians, relatives at Pittsburgh renewed attempts to get in touch with his attractive dancer-brother, Virginia Pearson Lindsay, 29, believed to be in New York.

Suggests New Funds Be Raised By Taxation Of Federal-State Securities

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Legislation for reciprocal taxation of federal and state securities was offered today as an answer to President Roosevelt's budget demand for $460,000,000 in new taxes to meet increased defense needs.

The suggestion came from Senator Brown (D-Michigan), chairman of a special senate finance subcommittee studying the question of public security taxation. He estimated removal of the tax exemption from governmental and state securities would yield nearly $500,000,000 yearly—more than enough to pay the increased defense bill.

Brown said his special subcommittee would introduce a bill providing for removal of the tax exemption privilege. Backed by the administration, he sponsored the reciprocal federal-state salary tax bill passed at the last regular session of congress.

"The proposed legislation," Brown said, "will not only result in tax justice, but it itself would be a material factor in the reduction of the public debt."

Freeman Re-enters Theatre Business

Former Local Man Takes Over Theatre In Washington, D. C., May Expand

Charles Freeman, a motion picture theatre operator in New Castle for over thirty years, has re-entered the business it was stated today. Mr. Freeman has taken over a theatre in the Georgetown district of Washington, D. C., and may later take over a theatre in Maryland.

Mr. Freeman entered the motion picture theatre business in New Castle about the time Warner Brothers did, back in 1903. At various times he was interested in the Star, the Regent, the Penn., the Capitol and his last venture here was the Cathedral Theatre.

About two years ago he left New Castle and went to Alexandria, Va., where he entered the restaurant business. The theatre he is taking over in Washington is the Lido.

Dutch Government Refuses To Enforce Contraband Rules

(International News Service)

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Jan. 5.—The Dutch government refused today to cooperate in enforcing contraband regulations promulgated by the British government, including measures designed to choke off all German exports.

An official statement outlining its position was issued by the government after London authorities accused neutral exporters of camouflaging German exports and warned that this would lead to more stringent contraband control by the British. The Dutch statement said:

"This government has no part in the British control system. No official complaint has been received.

"Dutch traders, except for existing regulation, are free to carry on any trade at their own risk. Dutch traders cannot be expected to submit to British measures against which the Dutch government has protested."

Mission Appeals For Wheel Chair

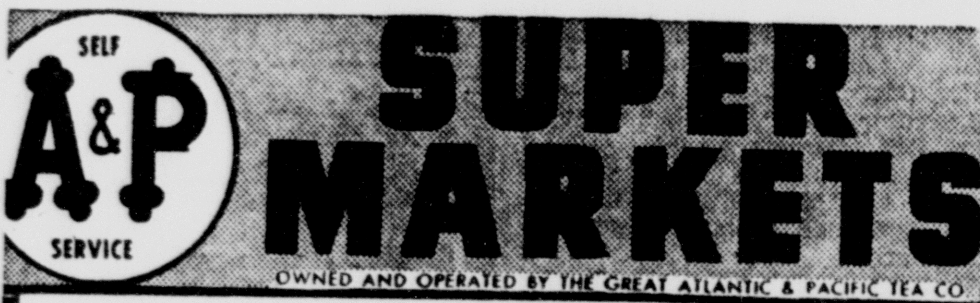

The Lawrence Mission workers wish to thank their many friends for their kindness in donating food and clothing for the needy at Christmas time. Large quantities of potatoes and apples were received and were distributed to people in need.

A second appeal is made by the mission for a wheel chair. A man who has not walked for ten years would like to borrow a chair in order to visit his church in his last days. Anyone who can grant this request is asked to report at the Lawrence Mission, 123 Lawrence street.

TEST FOR "WEARERS"

The Girl Reserve inter-club council took as project for the semester, the sponsoring of the wearing of Girl Reserve jewelry in the various clubs of the organization. The wearing of jewelry is open to any Girl Reserve provided that she becomes an "intelligent wearer." A girl may not become a wearer just through the desire to possess a ring or a bracelet. Therefore the council formulated certain requirements for those hoping to become a "wearer of the symbol." On each piece of jewelry is the Girl Reserve symbol, a symbol that stands for certain ideals.

One of the requirements is attendance at three meetings in the Y. W. C. A. held especially for prospective wearers. This afternoon the girls who are going through with this project for the semester will have their final meeting, and will have a comprehensive test on information, policies and ideals of the Girl Reserves and Y. W. C. A., followed by discussion.

The jewelry ceremonial will be on Monday, January 22, when May Louise Gibson, Ruth Peterson and Marveta Stenger will become wearers of the symbol.

Next Thursday the book "The Delectable Country" will be reviewed at the meeting by Rose M. Barber, librarian. Mothers of the club members will be guests on this occasion.

Sunday Will End First Year Of Pastor's Ministry In St. Andrew's Episcopal

The Rev. Charles J. Burton will celebrate his first anniversary as pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church on next Sunday, the First Sunday after Epiphany. It was on the First Sunday after Epiphany, January 8, 1939, that he conducted his first services in the Lawrence county mission field.

At the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. on next Sunday, the 1940 executive committee will be installed into office by the pastor, viz: Jacob C. Hetrick, Thomas J. P. Evans, Arthur G. Owens, Chester J. W. Hetrick, Louis P. Dean, Ellis G. Dieffenfer, Lawrence H. Jones, Donald A. Dinsmore and William H. Evans, member Emeritus. Their first meeting will be held next week on a day to be announced.

During the singing of the anthem the Three Wise Men led by the star will enter, bring their gifts and present them at God's Altar. New Dealers Hope Jackson Will Be Presidential Timber

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—As 46-year-old Frank Murphy sadly winds up his meteoric career as attorney general, the New Deal's "inner circle" today begins a second campaign to build up his successor, Robert H. Jackson of New York, into a presidential timber.

The insiders now hope Jackson can capture the country's imagination as a crusading attorney general and win the Democratic presidential nomination—always providing President Roosevelt does not seek a third term. And, if Jackson fails to win the top spot, the insiders plan to run him as a candidate for the vice presidential nomination in order to keep Postmaster General James A. Farley off the ticket.

DAILY DOZEN
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Pneumonia is due, in part, to an individual's conduct.

Unhygienic habits contribute to reduction of resistance.

Lack of sunshine, faulty diets, over-crowded quarters.

Smoky air, dissipation and wet feet.

These are contributing factors predisposing to pneumonia.

Neglected common colds and coughs are often guilty.

Influenza and measles also favor the onset of pneumonia.

Pneumonia is more successfully treated now than ever before.

Specific serums may serve to great advantage if given early.

Prompt medical attention is urged when pneumonia threatens.

Early typing of sputum will indicate the kind of serum.

Cold, changeable weather is not the cause of pneumonia.

Unhygienic habits that prevail in winter are free contributors.

SUDS IN 3 SECONDS IN COOL WATER! NEW SAFETY FOR SILKS, WOOLENS WITH AMAZING NEW IVORY SNOW!

QUICK 2-MINUTE WAY TO WASH STOCKINGS...

Safety

Wool keeps its soft warm fluffiness so long—when it's gently washed in cool pure suds of Ivory Snow. Good news for sweaters, blankets, baby clothes, wool hose—they all cost plenty of money, but Ivory Snow protection costs mighty little.

Speed

When you're sleepy and tired at night, bed looks mighty good. Who wants to wash out stockings the slow-poke way? Don't you do it! Make it snappy with new Ivory Snow. 3 seconds from box to suds! Even in cool water! What an easy way to help keep stockings fresh, strong, slim-fitting.

Protection

Pretty feminine undies—delicate silks and colors need the protection of cool water. For water that's too hot may fade the color right out! No danger now, though—snow-banks of Ivory Snow suds in cool water help you keep colors bright!

ASTOUNDING! New Ivory Snow called a wonder soap—revolutionizes ideas of washing silks and woollens!

AMAZING FACTS! Works in cool water—bursts into suds in 3 seconds—first soap to dissolve quickly and completely in cool water!

MARVELOUS RESULTS! Silk lingerie sparkles and gleams—woollens stay soft, fleecy—even stocking runs cut to the minimum!

ALL OVER TOWN TODAY, women are saying, "Good-bye to slow-poke soaps... good-bye to stirring up suds in hot water." Yes—and the most glorious thrill of all, women can say, "Good-bye to washed-out colors, faded in hot water!" "Good-bye to shrunken woollens ruined by hot water and rubbing."

With new Ivory Snow here, it's easy to wash fine things the way washing experts say is safe—in cool water! Ivory Snow bursts into suds in 3 seconds at a safe, cool temperature! So easy now to keep even difficult washables—things like satin negligees, crepe blouses, knitted woolen dresses—looking lovely through washing after washing!

So try Ivory Snow—you'll marvel! It's a brand new kind of soap—newer than flakes—newer than powders! You'll hardly believe your eyes when you see Ivory Snow burst into suds in cool water—in only 3 seconds! Good lively suds—full of Ivory purity!

No Fading from Hot Suds

What are the greatest risks in washing fine silks and woollens? "Hot water... impure soap... rubbing!" washing experts tell you. Hot water often makes colors run or fade. Hot water tends to shrink woollens. Nice things are either ruined or robbed of their fresh pretty colors. Then all the pleasure of wearing them is gone.

So avoid hot water—avoid slow-dissolving soaps that tempt you to use hot water! With this new Ivory Snow, you can use just cool water, and get suds in three seconds! Think of the time saved! Think of the safety—for all your nice washable silks, rayons and woollens!

Keep that Stocking Bill Down!

Swish stockings out every night with new Ivory Snow! It doesn't matter whether the water is only lukewarm—or even cool. Don't worry! You'll get those "three-second suds" with Ivory Snow. It's easy as pie to give them the nightly sudsing that's all-important in keeping the silk of your stockings fresh and strong. And Ivory Snow is made by the Ivory Soap people—it's pure! You're giving your stockings double-protection—the protection of cool suds and pure suds. Longer life for your stockings means money toward something else you want to buy!

Keep Baby Clothes Soft and Cozy

Keep baby comfortable in little bands and shirts and sweaters that keep their softness because they're gently washed in cool Ivory Snow suds. And since Ivory Snow is pure—just like Ivory Soap—it leaves no strong deposits on baby garments to irritate that tender little skin.

Rich Suds Mean Economy

You get so much suds—such rich suds—with just a little Ivory Snow! No wonder women say Ivory Snow is economical to use. Actually, you'll find you can give your clothes the protection of this gentle, cool-water soap—you can save time with these speedy "3-second suds"—for no more than it costs you to use old-fashioned fine-fabric soaps.

Try New Ivory Snow Today

You'll see new Ivory Snow today in your store in a blue-and-white box. Try it in both your bathroom and laundry. See why other women say, "It's fast. It's safe. It's wonderful!"

REALTY TRANSFERS

Fred Robson to Dollar Savings Association, second ward, 1.

Another large damage suit has been filed in the office of the Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar. Amy H. Patterson of 3948 McClure avenue, Pittsburgh, trustees ad litem, files a suit for $50,000 against William F. Offutt and Martin Offutt, of Slippery Rock, Butler County for the death of James C. Patterson, 59, husband of the plaintiff.

In the statement of claim it sets out that on March 18, 1939, Mr. Patterson who was an assistant auditor of the Pittsburgh Limestone Company and the auditor of the Conneaut Dock Company was driving west on Route 103 (the Harlansburg road) about 6 2-3 miles from New Castle. At the same time the car driven by one of the defendants was driving east at a high rate of speed and was about four feet over the white line. The two cars collided and Mr. Patterson was almost instantly killed.

The statement of claim sets out that Mr. Patterson had an income of $7,500 per year and that dependent upon him were his wife, son, Dale, 20, daughter Helen, 23, daughter, Alice, 28, all of Pittsburgh, and the following grandchildren, to which stood in loco parentis, Betty Lou, 12, of Pittsburgh, Fred 12, and Eugene 13, of Bessemer.

Other suits include that of the Milton Bradley Company against the Charles T. Metzler Company for $558.70 alleged to be due on a bill of merchandise.

Agnes M. Rhodes files a confession of judgment and an amicable suit in ejectment against Joseph Dawson.

Judge W. Walter Braham handed down an opinion on Thursday opening a judgment in the case of Ida Newmark against Angelo DiMuccio, Asuntio DiMuccio and Francesca Mangini.

The case is one in which the three people named as defendants in the case signed a small loan for $300 on October 29, 1929, to the Colonial Security Company. By agreement the note was transferred to the Colonial Equity Company, both companies being owned by Morris Newmark, husband of the plaintiff. Another note was executed. The decision sets out that Raymond Peluso had testified to being present when the original note of $300 was paid off. The defendants claim the second note merely replaced the first one and that they do not owe anything. Judge Braham awarded the petitioners the right to have the judgment opened.

Two divorces were handed down Thursday by Judge W. Walter Braham. One was to Hugh D. Horton from his wife Wilma E. Horton and one to Doris Stephenson from her husband Charles Stephenson.

Civil court will be held beginning Monday, January 8, and Monday, January 15, in both court rooms, number one and two.

In court room number one the final testimony of the Bar Association against Angelo Cassacchio, alleged to have been practicing law without a license was heard on Thursday. A recess was taken before the defense puts in its testimony. This will be heard later.

Only 337 dog licenses have been issued thus far in the office of County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer, a small beginning for such a large number of poaches as we have in the county. One fishing license has been issued and the gentleman getting in first is John Houk of R. D. 6.

On the wall of the corridor outside court room number one hangs a picture of an old time bar association, that of 1901. The picture holds the likenesses of 54 attorneys, Judge W. D. Wallace and ex-judges A. L. Hazen and J. Norman Martin.

Of the entire group there are 12 men still in active practice. The others are either dead or have left the practice of law. Two of the three judges are also dead.

In the group are some famous old practitioners of the Lawrence County Bar. Men like John G. McConaghy, Oscar L. Jackson, D. B. Kurtz, B. A. Winternitz, R. K. Aiken and S. W. Dana. A few of the names are not familiar now. Among these are such attorneys as J. L. Biggerstaff, J. H. Pittner and George Morgan.

In England the courts have a charmed circle known as the Inner Court. When the improvements to the court house are completed, the prothonotary's office can use this name or perhaps the Dungeon would be better.

There will be one window opening on the outdoors in the present offices and this is far away from where the deputies and clerks work. To get back to the new office will almost require a guide.

County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer has started work in preparation of the treasurer's sales which must be held February 1. An estimated number of sales is 2,000.

Usually all properties are sold to the county commissioners. Where an individual buys in one he cannot get a clear deed for two years. Where the commissioners buy up the properties they hold them for five years and then sell them to the highest bidder.

Taxes delinquent for the years 1929-30 will be sold February 1. Taxes delinquent for the years 1932-33 will be sold May 1 and taxes delinquent for 1934-35 must be sold on or before August 1.

County Controller Frank W. Hill has prepared a compilation of the expenditures of the county for December 1939. The total general fund expenditures amounts to $60,585.89. Because of the detail of the report a portion is shown today and each day thereafter until the full report has been shown.

Today's portion concerns the commissioners' office, the court house maintenance and general elections. The commissioners' office total is $2,995.39 divided as follows, salaries of commissioners, $750; salaries of chief clerk and clerks, $978.50; printing and advertising, $79.80; telephone, $33.90; gas, oil and auto repairs, $61.69; traveling expense, $17.50; general repairs, $75.64; plumbing repairs, $130.10; electric repairs, $5.05; coal, $196.30; gas, $14.25; water, $28.05; distilled water, ice and stands, $38.45; furnishings, $36.50; laundry and dry cleaning, $3.75; reconditioning Boyles property, $2,874.75; court house reconstruction, $8,092.31.

General election costs were $122.70 divided as follows, constables' pay $50; tabulating board advertising, $2.20; house rent, $30; booth election, storage and janitor, $52.50; box rent, $23; previous box rent, $10.

Babson Says Machinery Industry Will Double Volume During Year

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1940, Publishers Financial Bureau)

BABSON PARK, Pa., Jan. 5.—The machinery and machine tool business wins my vote as the "industry of the year for 1940." Operations in this business in the first half of the year should run 100 per cent above the early months of 1939. "Good times," paced by the heavy industries and armaments, make the machinery business an odds-on favorite in the 1940 Prosperity Derby!

Each January I select the industry which I feel has the most sensational outlook for the new year. My nominations for recent years have included Building, Aviation, and Chemicals. All these have rosy outlooks for early 1940, but I am picking Machinery and Machine Tools for the flashiest performance. There are eight clean-cut reasons why I cast my vote for this "dark horse" industry:

Industry At New Peak
1. Machine Tool orders and operations promise to reach new all-time peaks in the months just ahead. Right now, the tool branch of the industry is smashing all records. It should continue to do so well into 1940.

Demand for Machinery Will Be Greater
2. Demand for machinery will be greater this year than in the ill-starred boomlet of 1936-37. Then the majority of orders came from the consumer goods industries. Today, the heavy industries are going full blast, while the consumer goods businesses are also running wide open.

Potential Demand Is Tremendous
3. Potential demand is tremendous. The big industries have been in the doldrums for years. Dull business and slim profits have piled up vast totals of deferred machinery orders. Expanding business, low interest rates, rising labor costs, and the like are now finally unleashing these long-postponed orders.

Shipyards Swarm With Activity
4. Shipbuilding has suddenly come to life after years of inactivity. Every shipyard in America today is sprouting the keel of a man-of-war or a merchantman. A huge modern ship requires millions of dollars worth of machinery.

The Machinery Industry Is Highly Cyclical
5. The machinery industry is highly cyclical. In simple language, this means it is a "prince or pauper" business. It rises sensationally when business is headed upward; it plunges spectacularly when the business plug is pulled. This year it should surge ahead because the tides of recovery are running strong.

The Long-Term Trend of the Industry Is Sharply Upward
6. The long-term trend of the industry is sharply upward. Rising labor costs, selfish labor practices, antagonistic labor rulings have put a forced drought under labor-saving machinery. Keen business competition and skyrocketing taxes have sent research engineers ferreting out instances where new and modern machinery can save manufacturing costs.

World Tension Big Factor
7. World-wide war preparations have "hopped up" the industry. Tanks, airplanes, Big Berthas, all lean heavily on this industry for intricate instruments and other machinery. Moreover, we are taking over Germany's big South American machinery market by default. Even if peace comes, our own armament program will keep the machinery business humming overtime.

The Power Industry Is Heading Into Its Biggest Construction Year Since 1929
8. The power industry is heading into its biggest construction year since 1929. Use of electricity is breaking all records. Additional costly generating machinery must be installed to take care of this rapidly-growing load.

Skilled Labor Shortage
For these reasons, I am convinced that machinery and machine tool concerns will "go to town" in early 1940. Only shadow on their outlook is the shortage of skilled tool workers. Most machine companies are digging into the bottom of their labor barrel right now and finding the supply of workers pretty well picked over. Only a lack of skilled machine tool men can puncture my forecast.

The above remarks, of course, mean that all connected with this industry can look forward to bright prospects for 1940. Workers, employers, salesmen, suppliers, and investors are all set for this year. Investors must remember, however, that the industry swings high and low. They must also recognize that there are only a handful of machinery and machine tool companies whose securities have a broad market.

The industry is a comer. It helps its customers cut costs—and lower cost are a powerful sales argument. It has made tremendous technological advances. The tasks performed by machinery today are nothing short of amazing. Machines will do everything now except say "Good Morning" to the boss. Hence, with the type of business gains I expect in the first half of this year, I think the industry will break fast and finish strong in the 1940 Business Sweepstakes.

Character Cannot Be Mechanized
However, I want to add to this conclusion a word of warning to parents and school officials: Do not think you can beat the machine by copying the machine. One reason for so much unemployment today among young people is that research laboratories are making machines almost human; while public schools are making graduates almost mechanical. Machines can supply accuracy and speed; but not ideas, initiative, and inspiration. These latter are what we need in order to get our people back to work, to balance our budget, to save our free institutions. Hence, parents must insist upon training for their children rather than diplomas—and upon spiritual "oomph" rather than empty educational honors. If they do not, our wonderful machines, like Frankenstein's monster, will finally destroy the material civilization which they have so ably helped to create.

Building Boom In 1939 Heavy, Report Shows

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—All but 80 of 340 building projects in Pennsylvania involving a $215,000,000 program were completed in 1939 with the aid of PWA funds, Col. M. E. Gilmore, regional PWA director, reported today.

Pennsylvania last year experienced the largest construction boom in a decade with the assistance of $96,000,000 in federal grants, the director said. The other 80 projects were to be finished during the first half of 1940.

Besides the $65,000,000 Pennsylvania turnpike, Gilmore listed the $3,900,000 Bethlehem waterworks and a $1,990,000 hospital at Pittsburgh as the year's outstanding projects. Almost half the program was devoted to 126 school projects, he reported.

Gilmore's report ended with the warning that since there is no provision for new PWA aid men now employed on such projects will be idle when the program ends.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE CRIPPLED CHILD

Six of every thousand children in this world today are crippled, and it seems to me that a crippled child is more deserving of sympathy than almost any other human being. His affliction, in nearly all cases is no fault of his. Yet he may have to suffer because of it all of his life. In childhood it may cause him the loss of most of the joys of others of his age and perhaps a great deal of loneliness. Very often there is also recurring pain connected with his particular condition. As he grows up the injury or deformity may naturally affect every phase of his existence and it may warp his whole outlook on life until he is a bitter and frustrated person.

Fortunately, the problem of the crippled child is being given a lot of attention now. Prospects of all are far different from those of a hundred years ago when the crippled child could expect little or no help from doctors. There was almost no orthopedic surgery in those days, for one thing. The cripple was usually deprived of an education, because of having to stay home, unless his family was one of the very few prosperous enough to afford a private tutor. Also, many parents in those days were superstitious enough to believe that a crippled child was a "punishment" imposed on them for some offense, and they dared not attempt to alleviate his condition. Belief that the sins of the parents must be visited upon the children has resulted in many tragedies.

In this day and age, thankfully, there is more than a fair chance that a crippled child may be cured by surgery. Educational facilities are arranged for crippled children in most communities so that they receive the same advantages as their healthy friends. When they are able to leave home, special schools train them in vocations in which their disabilities will not be disadvantageous. Cripples or ex-cripples have become some of the greatest and happiest men and women of our time.

A century ago about one child in four was crippled, most of them born with some congenital defect. Spread of knowledge of proper prenatal care and advances in surgical correction of defects at birth have been great factors in reducing the number to the present average of seven per thousand. Post-natal surgery is reducing the figure still more. A few decades ago children born with a club-foot were considered doomed to be cripples all their lives. This trouble can be corrected now without much difficulty.

In my own small practice at Callender, over a period of 30 years, I have seen a great many children born with physical defects that in any earlier day would have clung to them for life. Yet many are normal citizens today because of orthopedic surgery.

About 11 per cent of today's crippled children are crippled because of avoidable accidents. We all know what a toll traffic mishaps take amongst our young. In a great many of these cases the fault lies with the child, but how can we expect children to be careful unless we teach them, to be as cautious on a road as around a hot stove?

I have often observed that couples, in choosing a site for a home, do not give enough thought to traffic conditions and dangers their children will be exposed to. I have known couples to devote a great deal of attention to the convenience of a home location for themselves, to the scenery around it, and to everything else except the fact that their children will have to cross six or seven busy streets to get to school.

Roosevelt Message Tragic Confession Says Thos. E. Dewey

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for president, today characterized President Roosevelt's message to congress as "a tragic confession of failure."

Dewey made his statement upon his return from Augusta, Ga., where he spent a week resting and completing his next three campaign speeches.

"The president's message," Dewey declared, "was an attempt to defend seven years in which there has been no success in solving either of the two major national problems—unemployment and an increasing unbalanced budget."

"It was an attempt to defend a situation where we cannot pay ordinary expenses of government and the reasonable expenses of national defense without going far deeper into debt."

"The president asks unity behind a domestic program which has failed and has brought about these results. His message was a tragic confession of failure."

Plenty Of Clothes Save Life Of Man

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—The clothes he wears to protect himself against Jack Frost, Thursday played the most important role of saving Rex Baroni's life.

The 36-year-old resident of near-by Philadelphia was struck by an automobile in suburban Folsom by a car operated, police said, by Joseph Cohen, 32, of this city. The wallop he got might have killed him, doctors said, if he hadn't been wearing:

A suit of extra heavy underwear, two pairs of trousers, two shirts, a vest, two sweaters, a lumber jacket, a heavy overcoat, a pair of work shoes, rubbers and thick socks.

Condition From Her Leap,
Has Broken Vertebra

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5.—Although still expected to live, the condition of Agnes West, assistant West Virginia university librarian who strangled her mother before leaping six floors from a hotel window, today was considered so serious she may have to remain in the hospital for another two months.

James Is Against Pledged Delegates

Would Oppose Effort By Thomas E. Dewey Backers To Enter Him In State Primary

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 5.—Any attempt by District Attorney Thomas Dewey of New York, Republican presidential candidate, to enter the Pennsylvania primary and to seek a delegation instructed to vote for him at the Republican national convention would be opposed by Gov. Arthur H. James.
Governor James made it clear that while he was not "as a Republican," opposed to Dewey, he was opposed to sending an instructed delegation to the convention.
"The Pennsylvania delegation ought to go to the convention pledged to no delegate," he said. "I will fight any attempt to obtain a pledged delegation."
The Keystone delegation of 72 will be the second largest at the convention. It is expected to present the name of Governor James to the convention as its "favorite son" candidate.

Reds Ruthless In Polish Ukraine

Inhuman Methods Reported
In Attempt To Sovietize
Captured District

MANY EXILED
OR EXECUTED

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CERNIAUTI, Rumania.—Political commissars are showing no mercy in sovietizing the Polish Ukraine.

This is revealed in the accounts of several refugees who have recently escaped into Rumania by crossing the Dniester river at night.

All tell similar stories of summary treatment to those resisting collectivization: 800 executed and 5,000 exiled into the interior of Russia or Siberia are the most conservative estimates to date.

Peasant communities formed in each village have dealt severely with former landlords and alleged kulaks. While supervising trials, Russian commissars have allowed the Ukrainians to form their own courts for dealing with local "enemies of the people."

Poles Suffer Most

Class hatred and local grudges account for much of the brutality, but Poles living in the Ukraine have suffered the most. Before the arrival of the Russians, Ukrainians attacked many Polish villages, burned the houses, and shot the inhabitants outright. This has now been stopped, but all Poles are being moved out of the Ukraine.

Young men and women commissars, party instructors, representatives of the Komsomol (Soviet youth), and secret police were sent from Moscow immediately after the entry of the Red Army. Setting up headquarters at Lwow, they systematically organized village Soviets, started classes in Communism, and began the process of collectivization.

Rumors who had believed only the property of the wealthy would be taken, were disillusioned when forced to submit lists of their own personal belongings, and many attempted to resist. These minor revolts were quickly crushed, but there are daily trials of those accused of passive resistance and sabotage.

Refugees state that no attempt will be made to establish large collective farms until spring, but that peasants have already been notified that they must be prepared to join one of those institutions at that time. Huge pictures of Stalin have replaced those of Pilsudski in all public buildings; Russian movies are shown in the cinemas; and "to-variach" is now the common greeting instead of "pan."

Rumors published abroad that Radek, brilliant former editor of Pravda, who was convicted as a counter-revolutionary was in charge of sovietizing Polish Ukraine have not been supported by the testimony of any refugee with whom this correspondent talked.

Although discontented and frightened, the Ukrainians, who are now completely disarmed, are so heavily policed that it is believed there is little possibility of revolt.

The cause of Ukrainian nationalism is now at its lowest ebb, said a refugee here, "it had little hope under the Poles, but it has no chance whatsoever under the Russians."

DESTROY GRAIN WEEVILS

Carbon bisulfide is very effective in the control of grain weevils after cool weather lowers the temperature in the storage room below 70 degrees, Fahrenheit.

However, when the grain is heavily infested with weevils, the action of the weevils in the grain may raise the inside temperature considerably, often sufficiently to make the fumigate reasonably effective. When weevils are extremely active and causing a great deal of damage, the grain is continually heating because of their feeding activities.

VARIOUS POISONS WILL DESTROY SILVER FISH

An unusual number of inquiries are being received from housewives and others concerning the control of silver fish. The insects seem to be extremely abundant this winter. Silver fish usually are found in damp places or where light does not penetrate. They feed on starchy materials, such as books, paper, wall paper, cloth and on most other materials containing starch.

The elimination of damp or dark places as storage space will be helpful in controlling silver fish. They can be poisoned readily by mixing 12 parts of sodium fluoride in 100 parts wheat flour. Scatter the dry material behind books or under papers where children or pet animals cannot get at it. Sodium fluoride is poisonous.

Another method is to mix half to three-quarters of an ounce of white arsenic with one pint wheat flour and add enough water to make a thin paste by boiling. Spread the paste on small pieces of thin cardboard or paper. The material also is poisonous and must be kept out of reach of children and pet animals.

Pyrethrum powder, if it is fresh, is also suitable, but the powder loses its strength rapidly after exposure to air. Powdered borax is nearly as effective as the sodium fluoride and retains its killing qualities if it does not "cake." Dust it around places where the insects are working. Clothing or similar materials can be handled best by frequent airing and the destruction of any insects found.

REPAIR FARM MACHINES DURING SLACK SEASON

Spending a few hours this winter in the repair of farm machinery will save many hours of lost time next summer.

The most important consideration in the repair of any machine is to do the work thoroughly. The ideal plan is to have all needed adjustments and repairs listed on a tag filled out when the machine was taken from the field.

Usually time is available during the winter when machines can be repaired without interfering with other work. Any delay in obtaining parts will not be costly. Often much time is required to secure required parts, particularly for old machines.

NEW VARIETIES FOR MARKET GARDENERS

Market gardeners are on the alert to find new and improved vegetable varieties to meet changing production methods and market demands. Catalogs now being issued by seedsmen list many new selections. Some of them are worthy of trial.

In the case of bush snap beans, "Plentiful" is recommended for an early variety, and Tendergreen for quality. For canning, try the new Baby Potato Bush Lima bean. There is the new Early Detroit Cabbage. Supreme Half Long Special Chantenay is a carrot that shows considerable promise.

Several cauliflower varieties are being offered for the first time. They include Super Snowball, Snowdrift, an early type, and Holland Erfurt, a late variety. There are three new special Pascal strains of celery: Sands, A. & C. and Cross. National Pickling is a new cucumber which shows promise for pickling purposes. Other cucumbers are Straight Eight, A. & C., Ace, and Long.

New sweet corn varieties are listed. These include Spangcross (C4.13) which matures in 65 days; Marcross (C13.6), maturing in 70 days; Carmelcross (C13.P39), a 75-day strain; Whipcross; Tendergold; Golden Cross, maturing in 85 days; Bloomcross, requiring 90 days for maturity; Golden Hybrid (2439); and Iowa (245.P39) which matures in about 95 days.

TIPS FOR WOMEN WHO MAKE CLOTHES AT HOME

Are you having trouble with your sewing machine just when you want to finish clothes for the children before the end of their holiday vacation?

Hold your temper and count ten before you do anything rash, for it may be easy to fix, suggests Miss Julia Markle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county.

Now what's the trouble? Is the thread breaking every few stitches? Or are stitches being skipped? Do these things at once says Miss Markle. Look at the needle to be sure that it has been set in the needle-bar correctly. The long groove should be on the side opposite from where the shuttle point or hook passes the needle. Be sure the needle is straight and of the correct size for the thread you are using. A table of correct needles for threads of different sizes is given in the instruction book for each machine. Check this carefully, she advises.

See that the needle is set accurately, neither too high nor too low. She points out that if any one of these factors is overlooked or incorrect, it may cause skipped stitches or broken threads. Next look at the threading of the needle and bobbin. Is proper threading of the needle, or a bobbin wound too full, uneven, or loose, may cause broken threads.

If both needle and bobbin seem to be all right, check the tension by looking at a sample of trial stitching. If the upper tension is too loose, looped stitches appear on the bottom of the cloth. If the lower tension is loose, the looped stitches are on the top of the fabric. If the tension is too tight, the material will pucker and the thread may break.

If you find the top thread lies along the goods, the top tension is too tight or the bottom one too loose. To correct this, Miss Markle says to loosen the top tension. If that doesn't help tighten both tensions. But if the bottom thread lies along the goods either the bottom tension is too tight or the top one too loose. To remedy it, tighten the upper tension. If that doesn't work, loosen both tensions.

Now if these home remedies fail to correct the faults, call a machine mechanic and have him go over the machine thoroughly. Ask him to check all parts of the machine so that you can continue your sewing without interruptions.

AROUND CITY HALL

To "If You Drive, Don't Drink" may be added another safety slogan: "If you drive, don't speed." Unless Mr. Motorist, you desire to make the acquaintance of the new mayor, Charles B. Mayne who believes that a gasoline-propelled vehicle in the hands of a speed demon is something not to be tolerated.

Previous to becoming mayor, the mayor made the statement that "speeding here must stop." He indicated that he would arm police with instructions to watch for the motorists who endanger the lives of others.

Another bugaboo to His Honor is the blasting of horns on automobiles in wedding caravans. During his former incumbency he put a stop to the incessant blowing of horns as the gaily decorated cars filled with well-wishers followed newlyweds with horns tooting full power.

After director of streets and public improvements, William H. Dunlap, offered a bill installing the sewer bureau and commissioner of sewers under his control. Councilman Joseph D. Alexander, director of parks and buildings, asked Dunlap if the bill conflicts with an ordinance designating how many men may be employed in the sewer bureau and their wages. "The bill does not say anything about the quota or wages" Dunlap replied. "It is all right with me then" said Alexander who for a year, has had charge of the bureau.

It is likely that council, acting as a board of revision, will establish foot front values on newly paved streets. The minimum will be $300 per foot. It is not yet known what streets will be used as dividing lines. However, no actual information will be available until council has had a chance to give thorough study to the situation. After the solons arrive at a decision they will lose no time revising assessments to make them just and equitable, councilmen have indicated.

Hope To Raise Million Dollars For Finn Fund

Nation-Wide Sports Program Being Mapped By Former President Herbert Hoover

MIKE JACOBS TO STAGE BIG BOUT

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—"The greatest sporting event the world has seen in centuries," said Herbert Hoover today, "is the spectacle of 300,000 Finns fighting 4,000,000 Russians and making the Russians like it."
The former president of the United States made the foregoing crack in urging every sports loving American to get behind a nation-wide sports program that it is hoped will send at least $1,000,000 for relief to the nation that sent us Paavo Nurmi.

Mike Jacobs Helps
At Hoover's request, Mike Jacobs, the fight promoter, today agreed to stage a Tony Galento-Max Baer bout in Madison Square Garden late in February and promised not to take a nickel for his services.
Hoover was assured that an open tennis tournament would be sanctioned to bring together Don Budge, Bill Tilden and other leading pros against the pick of the amateurs in Madison Square Garden.

Pressure will be brought to bear on every race track in the country to contribute at least one day's receipts to Finnish relief. This item alone might easily net more than a million dollars.

Jimmy Bronson, heading a drive by the small fight clubs, said 75 clubs throughout the nation had promised to stage fights for the fund.

Hoover promised he would be advised today whether Tazio Maki, the Finn, who is admittedly the greatest runner in the world, and his nearest competitor, Kauko Pekuri, also a Finn, would be permitted to come over to engage in a series of meets in at least 20 cities from coast to coast.

Every Manner of Sport
Golf, polo, swimming, hockey, basketball and other minor sports also have promised to contribute either part or all of their receipts to this cause.

A special all-star game of major league rookies will be staged in Florida and the bite will be put on any and all sports events that charge admission fees.
"For," as Hoover pointed out, "the Finns have spent about $8,000,000 in preparing to stage the Olympic games this year and we'd like to give at least some of this back for the relief of their women and children. This money will not be spent for war funds—because only governments could help on such a vast scale—but every dime will go to aid women and children who have been bombed and driven from their homes."
"The Finns are our kind of sportsmen. They have shown their liking for us; we should now rally round when they need it just as we might go to the aid of a little fellow who was down and being bootied by a big bully."

Fights Wage Tax

Mrs. Jennie Dole

But Will He Go?

Senator Austin
Republican leaders received a surprise when they were invited by President Roosevelt to attend the $100-a-plate Jackson Day dinner in Washington, Jan. 8. Heretofore, the Jackson Day dinners have been exclusive Democratic feasts. Senator Warren R. Austin (R) of Vermont is pictured above studying his invitation.

Favor Bettina Over Apostoli

Bettors Place Former Middleweight Champion On Short End Tonight

CONN HAS BEATEN BOTH FIGHTERS

By LAWTON CARVER International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The most absurd betting odds arranged for a prize fight in recent semesters confronted experts today as they looked ahead to tonight's 12-round encounter between Fred Apostoli, the beautiful bell hop from San Francisco, and Melito Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., southpaw. Apostoli, who until recently shared recognition as the world middleweight champion, is on the short end of 9 to 5 betting. We don't think he is that bad or that Bettina, ex-light heavy titleholder is anywhere near that good.

In fact, from where we sit Apostoli can and may win this one and regain some of the prestige lost when Billy Conn twice outpointed him and Cefernio Garcia knocked him in every direction, including out. This knockout, in seven rounds they say is the basic for the one-sided price. The Conn bouts don't figure so prominently because he also outpointed Bettina two straight. Nevertheless, and aside from everything that may appear to be rational to others, Apostoli can't ever be wagered against at 9 to 5—not the Apostoli who carved his initials all over some of the best men to be found only a few months ago.

If he has slipped so badly that Bettina can and does beat him then why bother to arrange any odds? It's simpler still to forget it all—including Apostoli.

Only a few months ago he was one of the gamest, toughest and most enthusiastic middleweights seen around here since the long-gone heyday of Mickey Walker.

There is always something at the office. The more silent the type, writers, the more you can hear the gum popping.

Further Simplifying Of High Grid Rules Is Being Discussed

Two-Day Meeting Of National Interscholastic Rules Committee Opens In Chicago

More Than 2,000 High School Coaches Polled As To Changes For 1940 Season

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Further simplification of high school football rules was discussed today at the opening session of the two-day meeting of the National Interscholastic Football Rules Committee.

Rules set by the committee govern grid contests in high schools in 26 states and it was pointed out by H. V. Porter, secretary, affect "more than two-thirds of the football played in this country." Porter added that the committee's first thought is to adapt the game "to the abilities and needs of boys of high school age." He attributed the growing popularity of interscholastic competition to previous simplification of the laws of the game.

Changes Recommended
Some of the major rule changes under discussion, which were suggested in a poll of more than 2,000 high school coaches, were:

(1) Allow a second forward pass during the same play, provided both passers start behind the line of scrimmage.
(2) Encourage return to punts by depriving kicking team of right to recover kick after a receiver has touched the ball in a bona fide attempt to catch or recover it. This would not apply to a fumble occurring after there has been possession and control of the ball.

(3) Make it illegal for a player to touch a loose ball after he has been out of bounds on the same play.

(4) Permit an eligible receiver to complete a pass after the ball has been touched by an eligible teammate.
(5) Regard a fourth down incomplete pass in the end zone a touchback only if the play starts inside the 20-yard line.
(6) Apply the same penalties to pass interference and to ineligible receivers in the end zone. Present rules provide for a touchdown on any down for pass interference in the end zone. A touchback applied on fourth downs only in the event of ineligible receivers, the penalty.

Titans Defeat Carnegie Tech Team 50 To 44

Make It Three In Row Over Plaids Of Pittsburgh, Charley Ridd Is Star

QUARTERS PLAYED BY AGREEMENT

(Special To The News) PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 5.—Those tall Titans of Westminster college came here last night and hung their third straight defeat on the Plaid of Carnegie Tech at the Tech gym. The score was 50 to 44.

Twice last year the Westminster boys made the local heavers say "huncle" and continued this year where they left off in the spring of 1939. By agreement of the two coaches the game was played by quarters instead of the customary halves to give the boys more of a rest. The idea worked out fine. Leading the scorers was Charley Ridd of Irwin, Pa., who flipped in 14 of the Titan points by five field goals and four charity heaves. Second high scoring star in the game for the Titans was Spak, former South High boy, who had 11 points. Mel Miller of New Brighton, with 10 points, was also good. Holets of the Tech team with 11 points, was high man for the Tartans.

Tech Takes Lead
Carnegie Tech assumed the lead at the outset of the game, and at the end of the first period found the locals enjoying a 11 to 7 advantage. The advantage was not long in being wiped out in the second period, however, with the Titans really "going to town" with 16 points to but four for the Techers. The first half ended 23 to 15.

Tech looked a lot better in the third period after Coach Maxie Hannum had told them a few things in the dressing room between the halves, because the Tech boys outscored the visitors from Lawrence county, 19 to 14 in the third stanza to make it 37 to 34 in favor of the Washabaugh machine as the third period closed.

Titans Look Good
Westminster was content to try and keep their lead in the fourth and final period and still made 13 points to 10 for the Plaid to wind up 50 to 44. Tech was moving up fast but the timer's gun ended the rally.

Coach Hannum was forced to use Holets at forward for the ill star Randall Burch, and as said before, he was the star for the Tech team. Coach Grover Washabaugh has moulded together another great team this year and will give the district teams a lot of competition. Westminster used 13 men in the game at various times. Tech had 10 men in action at various times.

Grove City To Play Earlham Five Tonight

Richmond, Indiana, Team Has Fine Record, Grovers Have Fast Quintet

GROVE CITY, Jan. 5.—Returning to the basketball wars after a three weeks lay-off, the Grovers will play host tonight to Earlham College of Richmond, Indiana. The Hoosiers will be opening a three-game trip in Pennsylvania, playing Saturday at Susquehanna, and Monday at Swarthmore.

Indiana basketball is familiar to Coach Jim Loveless of the Grovers, who starred in the sport at DePauw University, in Greencastle, Indiana, and held his first coaching position at Penn High School. Earlham has one of the better basketball teams among the smaller colleges of Indiana, hotbed of the sport, and on the record is favored to defeat the Grovers.

Hard At Work
Coach Loveless has had his basketball squad at work all week, although classes did not re-convene until yesterday. He plans some shifts in the combination that defeated Clarion and lost to Ashland in the only games played in December. It is almost a certainty that Raed Patterson, varsity center last year, will be moved to guard, with Fowler, a freshman, at the tip-off spot. Walter Moore and Mory Patterson, veteran forwards, are expected to start, with Bill Towle at the other guard post. The latter is recovered from an ankle injury that hampered his pre-season work. Richard and Talovich, guards, and Hulton, forward, are certain to see plenty of action.

The Earlham team playing here has beaten Miami University, Rose Tech, and Taylor University, and lost to Franklin, 30-28, and to Ball State, 48-32.

The results last night: Gardner 195, Finley 194, J. Moore 193, Glitch 188, Thomas 191, Houck 191, C. Pugh 188, Johns 192.

New Castle At Ambridge High For Floor Game

New Castle Will Try For Second Win In Section Three Tonight

BOMBYK-GENNOCK ARE MARKED MEN
The New Castle High basketball team will leave the city early this evening for the Beaver Valley where at 7 o'clock the High Reserves will meet the Ambridge Reserves, with the varsity teams participating in the main game at 8 o'clock.

This will be the second Section Three game for both teams. New Castle began the W. P. I. A. L. race Tuesday by defeating New Brighton High 39 to 19. Ambridge began Tuesday with a 19 to 17 win over Beaver Falls High at Beaver Falls.

Look For Battle
Both teams will fight hard to remain in the undefeated class. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh headed the squad of 15 that will leave here by bus. Norman Nelson, faculty manager and Robert Stewart will also be on the bus.

Ray Bombyk and Rags Gennock will be marked men in the game tonight. Ambridge is well aware of the prowess of this pair of New Castle sharpshooters. The remainder of the first team to start the game will be Eddie Cowden, Lindy Lauro both guards, and Ernie Adamo the left forward.

New Castle's next home game will be next Tuesday night with Ellwood City High appearing here. Ellwood is entertaining Beaver Falls High tonight, and Butler clashes with New Brighton on the valley court.

GRIDER UNDERGOES OPERATION ON KNEE

Joe Gender, star backfield man at New Castle high school for the past three seasons, underwent an operation on his right knee at the Jameson Memorial hospital, several days ago and is now getting along nicely.

Gender received injuries in the game at Warren, O., a year ago last fall and suffered a recurrence recently. It was necessary to operate on the knee and remove some bone and tendon.

Section 20 Cagers Resume Hostilities

Well rested following a delightful Yuletide vacation, Section 20 rivals resume their scramble for honors tonight.

East Brook's pennant bound combination, now sharing the top berth with New Wilmington, faces an Herculean task, bucking up against the tough Bessemer outfit, at East Brook. The Brookers, one of the surprises of the season, forced to the front by spilling M. Jackson and Shenango, Wynder, Shuller and Dean have been the mainstays. Bessemer, inspired by its upset victory over Union Township, feels confident of tripping the Brookers. To date, Bessemer has dropped one loop clash, to Wampum High, Kurul and Johnson have sparked the Cement City team's attack. The game should be loaded with thrills. As victory will give the Brookers sole possession of first place, as New Wilmington takes on Mercer, a non-league opponent.

Mt. Jackson's quintet entertains Shenango in another feature attraction. The Section 20 standing to date follows:

	W	L	Pct.
N. Wilmington	2	0	1.000
East Brook	2	0	1.000
Union	2	1	.666
Wampum	2	2	.500

New Year Balloons
Land At Franklin

Three experimental balloons, with "Happy New Year" tags attached, sent up by George Krol, December 29, off the court of the Slovak club at Charles street, reached Franklin the same evening.

Charles Cauvel of Franklin, who retrieved the balloons from a tall tree, sent his greetings to the Slovak club as follows:
"Slovak club: Happy New Year! Found your balloons in a tree. Two were good, one flat. I found them six miles off Franklin. Please write and tell me where you were and when you left the balloons go.
Cordially yours,
CHARLES CAUVEL,
R. D. 4, Franklin, Pa."

Asks Extension Of Present Rail Rates Nine Months

Walter S. Franklin, Pennsy Traffic Vice President, Appeals to ICC

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Walter S. Franklin, traffic vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, Thursday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to extend for nine months the present basic one-way coach fare of 2½ cents a mile.

Appearing at a commission hearing on behalf of eastern railroads, Franklin fought return of basic coach fares to two cents a mile. The 2½-cent rate originally was to expire January 24 after an 18-month trial, but will be continued for two months longer pending the outcome of the present hearing.

Return to the two-cent fare level will jeopardize the sliding scale round-trip fares established by eastern lines last summer, Franklin said. He declared this schedule, based on a new concept in passenger rate-making, has lowered coach rates for long trips even below the former two-cent a mile mark.

Present round-trip coach fares between New York and Chicago are 15.1 per cent lower than the two-cent-a-mile level and fares between New York and St. Louis and New York and Cincinnati are 14.9 per cent and 10.6 per cent cheaper respectively, he said.

Even Pullman tickets are cheaper under the sliding scale plan on long rides than the base rate of three cents-a-mile for the class of travel, Franklin said.

Franklin argued that the long distance rates have proved substantial attractions to railroad patrons and have created a large volume of new railroad travel while the 2½-cent basic rate protects revenues on shorter hauls.
